THE PATERNAL PROFESSOR

Organized. Supportive. Invested. You got this.

Monthly Family Check-In

☐ What are you most proud of this month?
Celebrate effort, growth, and character—not just grades.

☐ What challenged you the most?
Help your teen see challenges as opportunities to learn rather than reasons to give up.

☐ Which class are you enjoying the most right now?
Interests often reveal where students feel engaged and confident.

☐ Which teacher are you connecting with the most?
Strong relationships with teachers often lead to stronger learning experiences.

☐ Is there a class where you could use more support?
Address small concerns before they become bigger problems.

☐ What is one goal you accomplished this month?
Take time to celebrate progress—even small victories.

☐ What is one goal you'd like to work on next month?
Growth happens one month at a time.

☐ Is there anything I can do to better support you?
Sometimes the best way to help is simply to ask.

☐ Is there someone at school you encouraged this month?
Success isn't just about what students accomplish—it's also about the impact they have on others.

☐ What are you looking forward to next month?
End the conversation with optimism and purpose.

☐ Write down at least one goal with your student for the next month in their most difficult class and how they can accomplish it. It could be academic, talking to the teacher, or even making a new friend or study partner.

🎯 Family challenge before next month begins...

□ Celebrate one success.
□ Set one goal to accomplish.
□ Encourage one another in a tangible way.
□ Put next month's check-in on the calendar.
